may Allāh pardon him
Bismillāh al-Rahmān al-Rahīm

O Allāh!
Nothing is easy,
Save what You make so,
And should You wish,
You can make all hardships go.

Rabbanā! You are deserving of all thanks, praise and exaltation. O Allāh we thank you for the good that You bestow upon us. We are grateful to You for the favour of guidance, the blessing of good health, and the miracle of life. Glory and dominion are Yours alone. Power and sovereignty are none but Yours. We bear witness that you are the:

“Forgiver of sins and the Acceptor of repentance, severe in punishment, infinite in bounty. There is no god but Him; to Him is the ultimate return.”

I testify that You alone are deserving and worthy of worship, and I send salāh and salām upon the best teacher of all, Allāh’s mercy to mankind—the Messenger Muhammad—and upon his family, his household, his noble companions, and anyone who followers their faith until the Final Day.

This is a short compilation containing 40 prophetic reports, as was the norm among Muslim scholars across the ages. I decided to compile it after seeing the effects that the coronavirus is having on the world—we pray to Allāh that He lifts this affliction from the face of the earth. I divided it into nine chapters, each covering a basic theme, though inevitably, as the reader shall notice, there are some which overlap. The chapters are: on plagues and trials, along with an encouragement to be patient and to anticipate Allāh’s reward; on being prepared and taking precautionary measures; on supplications; on solitude and self-isolation; on upholding people’s rights; on communal behaviour and good conduct; a counsel concerning the rights of spouses, children and maintaining a congenial environment at home; on martyrdom and harbouring good thoughts about Allāh, and, finally, a chapter containing a comprehensive hadith.

I ask Allāh to make this work sincerely for Him and in desire of His pleasure. I would also like to thank all those who assisted or encouraged, and specifically I would like to thank the ‘Allama, Shaykh ‘Abdullah al-Judai’, may Allāh extend his life in good health and righteous deeds, and also thank my friend Ibrahim al-Tamimy. May Allāh reward everyone abundantly.

All praise and thanks to Allāh.

1. 'Ā’isha, Mother of the Believers, said:

I asked the Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) about epidemics and he said, "They are a punishment which Allāh sends upon whomsoever He wills, but Allāh has made it a mercy to the believers. Anyone who remains in a town which is plagued with an epidemic, remaining patient and anticipating Allāh’s reward, while firmly believing that nothing will befall him other than what Allāh has preordained for him, then he will receive a reward of a martyr." 2

2. Suhaib al-Rūmī reported that:

The Messenger of Allāh (ﷺ) said, "How wonderful is the situation of a believer! there is good for him in everything and this applies only to a believer. 3. Anas b. Mālik reported that:

Know that if the entire world comes together to benefit you in any way, they would not be able to do so except with what Allāh has already prescribed for you; and if they were to come together to harm you in any way, they would not be able to do so except with what Allāh has already prescribed against you. The pens have been lifted and the pages have dried." 41
